A NEW LAWSUIT ON HAND.

Or, Parody on Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ray.

By Johnson the Shirt Man.

Now there is a man with a great big gall. If you look at him he'll commence to bawl. He had some shirts and wanted them fixed but without the money he could not do it. He started in and tried his nerve. But the looks of him would not serve. He tried with a lawsuit but without success. That dirty man will do the best. Give me my shirt or in an hour I'll sue. It will cost me nothing but be dear for you. For I have a pull and in jail you'll go. And when you are there you'll have no show. He tried his dirty game but it did not work. He got hit in the neck and a good hard jerk. He feels as sore as a leper case. He is so ashamed to look in your face. MURRAY—Do others or they will do you.

Johnson the Shirt Maker is at the corner of King and Alakea streets, where he makes all kinds of shirts to order and guarantees a fit. It don't cost any more to have your shirts made to order than you pay for your old store and factory made goods. Now please bear this in mind and give us a call. Satisfaction guaranteed.

JOHNSON.

N. B.—No Bluffs taken in Payment for Shirts.

There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. It is intended especially for colds, croup and whooping cough. For each bottle for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands."

THE LEGISLATURE.

169th DAY.

THURSDAY, JAN. 12, 1892.

Morning Session.

The Assembly convened at 9 o'clock for prayer. Minutes of the previous meeting were then read and approved.

Minister Wilcox announced that the Queen had signed the following bills:

- Bill 218, to prevent trusts.
- Bill 231, to prevent the landing of stowaways and criminals.
- Bill 91, relating to the Wailuku Water Works.
- Bill 241, compensation of Representatives.
- Bill 238, fees of executors and administrators.
- Bill 212, new section to bill in re Chinese Immigration.
- Bill 235, National Loan.
- Bill 232, repeal of law relative to steam railway around Oahu.
- Bill 233, importation and sale of methylated spirits.
- Bill 230, regulating the carrying of passengers, Wailuku and Hilo.
- Bill 224, relating to bankruptcy.
- Bill 236, additional expenses Legislature 1892-3.
- Bill 243, to define writs of error.
- Bill 207, relating to stamp duties.
- Bill 208, to amend Chapter 37, Penal Code, relating to vagrants.

No other business intervening the Order of the Day was at 9:25 moved and Bill 244, to authorize the distilling of spirituous liquors, came up on third reading and passed.

Bill 247, to amend Section 69 of the Act to Reorganize the Judiciary and relating to appeals; read a third time and passed.

Rep. Kanaoia, under suspension of the rules, presented a resolution to the effect that, as the House had signified its readiness, and the Queen had expressed Her intention of proroguing the Legislature on the coming Saturday, then the Ministers be requested to place before Her Majesty unsigned bills which have passed third reading and request that Her Majesty give early attention to the same and return if possible on Saturday, before prorogation.

Noble Thurston objected to the resolution as being clearly imposing on the rights of Her Majesty. The Queen had a right by the Constitution to have possession of a bill for ten days and the House had no right to interfere during that time. Her Majesty may omit to sign or else veto a bill, that was her right and it was modified in the House or attempt to pass a resolution which was most clearly trenching on the rights of the Queen.

President Walker now announced that he would have to leave the House, and desired members to leave the keys of their desks with the Secretary.

Rep. White said that he did not think that there was anything wrong in the resolution; it was only a request that the Cabinet place bills in their hands before the Queen and advise Her to sign them. This was necessary in case of intended veto.

Rep. Wilcox said that he considered that there should be a change in the resolution; he did not favor it as drawn. The business of the Cabinet was to place the bills passed before the Queen but not to advise her.

Minister Brown stated that such were the duties as understood by the Cabinet. The Cabinet might advise Her Majesty with regard to certain measures but the Queen was free to reject thereof, when it became an individual matter, rested entirely with the Queen, it was her personal prerogative to veto or sign bills presented and the Cabinet would not even attempt interference with her personal rights.

Rep. Nawahi spoke at length on the subject and to the effect that the signature of the Ministers or one, at least, should be on all acts. He considered that the bills should be reported back before the House was prorogued.

Minister Brown said that the member seemed to be at sea on the subject. He did not know what he was talking about.

Rep. Bush said that at first it appeared as though this subject was of little importance, but as one of the debate showed that it had assumed considerable importance, especially as it seemed to be denied by the Cabinet that they did not need to show by their signatures that they were responsible for acts of the Queen. He (the speaker) held that the chief of the Cabinet should authorize acts of Her Majesty and thus accept responsibility. If he (the speaker) was a man of honor, and a member of the Cabinet, and did not care to take responsibility of the office, he would leave without being asked and not do as those who were now there.

Noble Thurston—You would! I think you would hang on tooth and nail rather than let go.

Noble Marsden—Rats! Rats! Rep. Bush—Never mind the rats. I (turning to Noble Thurston) would not cling to my seat as you did. I would not try to get up a vote of want of confidence in a Cabinet in which I was a member as you did.

Noble Thurston—Give us a rest! Rep. Bush—No, I won't give you a rest! When Rep. Bush was in the Cabinet he did not hold on and when he found out that Mr. Gibson did not want him he did not wait to be asked to leave but left of his own will. Relative to the resolution he would say that there was some reason for it, because it was thought that unfair advantage would be taken against the Lottery Bill. It was known that at least one member of the Cabinet had signed a petition in favor of the Lottery Bill. That there was no mistake in this.

Minister Brown (interrupting): Name that member of the Cabinet, if you can?

Rep. Bush—Do you want me to name him?

Ministers Brown, Jones and Robinson—Yes, name him. (Minister Wilcox, laughing).

Rep. Bush, (hesitatingly)—I did not see any signature, but I was told on good authority and by a member of this House that the Attorney-General signed a petition.

Attorney-General Brown—I deny that statement most emphatically and defy you or any one else to produce any petition or document which bears my signature in favor of the lottery.

Rep. Bush (facing Representatives)—Well, I got the information from a member of this House who is not here now, and I placed the fullest confidence in his statement. I believe now that the Attorney-General, in his heart, is in favor of the lottery.

Noble Thurston—You ought to dissect him and produce his heart, then we can see whether you are right or not.

Rep. Bush—No, for if I did we could learn nothing, because his heart is so much like yours, it is full of deceit.

Chorus from Nobles Young, Thurston, Baldwin and Marsden—Ha! ha! ha!

After some further talk the resolution was adopted, and at 11:00 the Assembly took recess until 1:30 p.m.

A YOUNG BLOOD.

Jolly Time in the Paradise of the Pacific.

A young English tourist on the S. S. Oceanic created no little amusement at W. S. S. Co.'s wharf yesterday evening. The young sport accompanied by two fellow passengers had been having a "good time" during the day, and toward dusk they were "pretty well on" having been doing the different saloons in town.

The scow was to leave the wharf, to transport the passengers to the steamer. The sport did not get out of the "Paradise of the Pacific," and his companions fearing they might get left, dragged him down to the wharf. When they reached the scow the young fellow started in to lecture on the beauties of the country and "the blasted blooming fine climate." After indulging in a long harangue to the "modification of hall present," he turned round and slipped, falling on a large lamp and smashing it to pieces. Mr. Jerry Simonson, who had charge of the scow, was not pleased with the young Britisher, and ordered him to keep quiet. His friends, who were less under the influence of liquor, remonstrated with the young man and with some trouble he was taken on board. Beyond a few scratches he was unhurt. Before leaving he sang out, "I've spent seven pounds in this blasted country riding those blooming cabs, don't you know."

DEFEAT OF THE MINISTRY.

Want of Confidence Carried by the Bare Constitutional Twenty-five.

Representative Kapahu of Kau moved a resolution of want of confidence in the Ministry on the re-assembly of the Legislature this afternoon. After a brief discussion the resolution was carried by the bare number of 25 votes necessary under the Constitution. The victorious opposition on this occasion is composed of the National Reform and Liberal members, with the addition of one Reformer, Noble Kanao. The vote was as follows:

Ayes—Nobles Berger, Hopkins, D. W. Pua, Peterson, Cummins, Maile, Hopili, Cornwell, and Kanao; Reps. Dipikane, Aki, S. K. Pua, R. Her Wilcox, Bush, Nawahi, Koahe, Kamao, Kamaoia, Kapahu, Kanao, White, Kanaoia, Edmonds, Kaluna, and Akina—25.

Noes—Nobles Ena, Kauhane, Marsden, Young, Baldwin, Walbridge, Anderson, Thurston, McBryde, and Dreier; Reps. Wilder, Kauli, Waipulani, Iosepa, Smith, and A. S. Wilcox—16.

Absent—Nobles Williams, J. M. Horner, R. R. Hind, and W. Y. Horner; Reps. Ashford and A. Horner.
